For betting purposes, the winner of an event or game will be determined on the date of the event's conclusion according to house wagering rules. Once competition is official, wagers will be paid on the initial results.

In two-way match-up proposition wagers, specified player, team or animal must start for action or wager is refunded. In the event that any participant "starts" but fails to finish for any reason, the opponent shall be deemed the winner for betting purposes.

Games are official after:

Football (professional and college): 55 minutes of play

Basketball (professional): 43 minutes of play

Basketball (college): 35 minutes of play.

Hockey (professional or college): 55 minutes of play

Boxing/MMA (professional and amateur): When the bell is sounded signifying the start of the opening round, the bout is considered official for betting purposes, regardless of the scheduled length, weight, classification and/or championship sanction. In round proposition bets, when the bell sounds signifying the end of a round, that is considered a full round for wagering purposes. If the bout is officially stopped prior to the bell, that round is not considered a full round. If the fight is stopped for any reason in between rounds, the fight will for wagering purposes, be determined to have stopped in the last completed round. For all "pick the round" propositions, if the length of the bout is changed from that posted or noted on printed media, all wagers are deemed "no action" and refunded.

All specified period(s) wagers and non-full game wagers:

All specified period(s) wagering propositions must be played to conclusion of specified period(s) of play or will be deemed "no action" and money refunded. Overtime period(s) are included as part of the second half.

All other sporting events with a scheduled length of play or time limit must play to conclusion or have five minutes or less of scheduled playing time remaining when the event concludes, or wagers will be deemed "no action" and refunded.

(c) "Draw" proposition wagers: "Draw" means fight must go to the judge's scorecard(s) and be declared a draw; including technical draw.

Baseball:

Baseball games are official after five (5) innings of play, unless the home team is leading in which event the game is official after four and one half (4 1/2) innings. Thereafter, if a game is called or suspended, the winner is determined by the score after the last full inning unless the home team scores to tie or take the lead in the bottom half of the inning in which case the winner is determined by the score at the time the game is called. When wagering on total runs or run lines, the game must go 9 full innings (8 1/2 if the home team is ahead) to have action

Rules for baseball propositions are the same as those for baseball totals, unless specified otherwise on printed media.

Baseball wagers are accepted in the following manner:

a. Action - Team against team, regardless of the starting pitcher.

b. One specified pitcher - A wager on or against one specified pitcher, regardless of the other starting pitcher. Specified pitcher must start or wager is deemed "no action." and wager is refunded.
